

A Tiny Provocation
May 19th, 2014

Leah offered the children an attractive mix of tiny, colorful materials. Although some approached the provocation as a sensory experience, most created an elaborate game of "going to the market."

