

Would you like to balance the clay? (February 20, 2012)

Madeline discovers that “smushing” the balls together keeps them from rolling off of one another.

Paisley, Madeline, and Logan were on the deck with Kristi working with clay. Together they were trying to make balls of clay. As they were working, Kristi asked, “Would you like to balance the balls of clay?”

Logan enjoyed the challenge of stacking balls of clay and made discoveries about balance, weight, and size during his process.
