

Embossing with hammers

November 2nd, 2016

Giving hammers to a group of young children may seem unusual, but they actually do very well with them! They are aware of their fingers and are very cautious when hammering to make marks on the aluminum sheets.

Deniz and Huck enjoy the loud noise the hammers make.

"I need that nail!" -Huck

Deniz thoroughly enjoyed using a textured hammer and also used a nail to make little dots on his sheet.

When he was finished, he looked closely and seemed very proud of his work!

Landyn sees Violet from the multiage class etching letters into her sheet with a nail, and decides she has to try it! Ruby watches intently.

*“Look Jess, I’m scratching!” -Landyn