

Going Through a Tunnel (and beyond!)

January 29th

Today, while half of the class visited Krog Street Tunnel, Lucas, Axel, Wren, Preston, and Ruby went through their own tunnel with the help of the LCD projector. The children formed a line ("train") with the chairs and declared their train a "dinosaur train". The train soon turned into a "doctor train" when Wren grabbed the doctor equipment and declared she was on her way to help "the sick people". Where did the train end up, though...? Of course, the train inevitably ended up at our current favorite place: THE MOON!
