

A few weeks ago, Jonah and his parents visited family in England, where Jonah had the pleasure of enjoying tea and crumpets. His parents brought this inspiration back for Jonah's third birthday celebration: a tea & crumpet party! The children enjoyed deliciously buttered and jellied fluffy crumpets as they sipped on (non-caffeinated) berry tea from teacups with tiny handles.

Jonah's Third Birthday "Tea & Crumpet" Party
April 10th 2017

Before the official tea party, Jonah's mommy brought a book about a tea party to read to the class at morning meeting. His mama then explained the relevance of tea & crumpets to the class and explained that the children would soon get to try their own!

Jonah's friends know how much he enjoys bugs, so we crafted a bug necklace for his birthday surprise. The children worked carefully to first paint the entire bug green and then to add splotches of other colors with q-tips. When Jonah opened his present he was surprised to see the vibrant bug friend.

Happy Birthday, Jonah!
