

Yoga January 27th

Sometimes we like to stretch and practice calming breathing in our class. Today, after finding a yoga book in our little library on the playground, we decided to have a more formal yoga session during morning meeting. After this, Eden asked to do more yoga, which led to a free-form yoga session on the green rug including lots of giggles. 😊

