

Winter Water Play December 2, 2011

Today we rolled up the carpet and filled our new silver bowls with soapy water. Nate laughed almost the whole time with James and Cruz laughing occasionally. The time with water was spent splashing their hands in the water and putting their bubbly hands in their mouths. Eventually all the water ended up on the floor! Zac watched on intently the whole time. Henry joined us after he had worked with clay in the studio.

