

Rainy day happenings in the Blue Room
May 1, 2017

Margaret and Cyla pretended to be babies, using their water cups as milk bottles.

Landon started a rousing game of throwing paper airplanes after Charletra helped to fold some earlier in the morning.

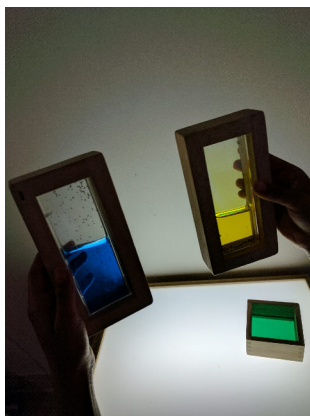

Elena engaged in a provocation of "circles". She eventually created a long line of cupcakes and then "baked them in the oven".

Emerson and Violet decorated their paper airplanes with markers.

Helena, Julian, and Sol read books in the hallway, a recent favorite activity for the Blue Room children.

Landon discovers that placing the blue color block in front of the yellow one creates green! Friends soon gathered around and began experimenting with other color combinations.
